We have to ask this when we examine our lives against scripture: "Are you following godly leaders? What is the character of the people you listen to?" In verses Matthew 7:15-20, Jesus brings up a group in the church who are prophets, basically, someone who speaks on God's behalf or someone who is used as a mouthpiece for God. He is warning the crowd that among them will be false teachers who are master manipulators and what they do is hold spiritual authority over people not for God's glory, but for their own selfish, personal gain. God's wrath will be on those predatory leaders who are disguised within the flock and are leading people astray. Jesus says we can tell good leaders apart from the bad leaders by their spiritual fruit, we must look at their heart and character. If we know what a true, real, authentic leader looks like then it becomes easier to spot a cheap knockoff.

A real pastor loves the people of the church & promotes unity. The fake pastor only loves himself and aims to divide the church. A real pastor helps sheep to depend on Christ. The fake pastor raises sheep who are codependent on his personality. A real pastor says less of me, less of me and more glory to God! The fake pastor says look at me, look at me and all that I can achieve. A real pastor teaches the meat & potatoes of the Bible to help mature the flock. The fake pastor merely attracts the sheep with entertainment which results in shallow faith or none at all. With a real pastor, you won't always agree with his style or preferences, but he will own up to real sin with humility. The fake pastor will never repent, he will make excuses, deflect blame, or have holes in his story. A real pastor invites accountability from close & trusted counsel. The fake pastor cannot stand being questioned and when confronted with the truth, he will bare his teeth, revealing his identity as the wolf. Let us not be naive to the fact that there will always be wolves hiding in plain sight next to us. We must be alert and watchful of the people we allow to have spiritual authority over the people in our church. Christ says clearly in scripture that we will know them by their fruit or lack thereof.
